

As a flight attendant, I am very against allowing cell phone usage aboard aircraft. It compromises security when we can least afford it, allowing terrorists to coordinate actions more effectively. Cell phone usage could exacerbate an already tense cabin atmosphere. Expectations would be placed on flight attendants to police the situations, thus drawing our focus away from safety and security for the flying public. The passing of this proposal will be a disservice to the majority...and could have dire consequences!